THE STONEHENGE BATTALION

The U.S. Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) Stonehenge Battalion at Missouri S&T will prepare you for any career that you choose. S&T's challenging curriculum, small classes and undergraduate research opportunities will provide you with relevant education and experience, while the ROTC program will teach you the management skills and give you the leadership experience to make you a successful Army officer.

Military science courses in ROTC offer opportunities to develop confidence, self-esteem, and leadership and life skills to succeed in college and beyond. The ROTC program supplements your major and is designed to prepare qualified, high-potential students for service as commissioned officers in the U.S. Army.

ABOUT OUR PROGRAMS

GAIN A HEAD START

Once you earn your undergraduate degree and military science training requirements, you can be commissioned as a second lieutenant on full-time Active Duty, or choose to be part-time in the US Army Reserve or National Guard.

GET PAID TO ATTEND S&T

The ROTC's four-year program is divided into two portions, each consisting of four classes normally taken in sequence. The first is the Basic Course, which is usually completed during the freshman and sophomore years. The second portion of the four-year program is called the Advanced Course; it is normally completed during the junior and senior years.

All Advanced Course students (both scholarship and non-scholarship) receive a monthly cash allowance while participating (full-time) in on-campus instruction. To enroll in the Advanced Course, students must:

- Successfully complete the Basic Course (or be given equivalent credit by the professor of military science)
- Be of good moral character
- Have a minimum of two years remaining as a full-time student
- Have a minimum GPA of 2.0
- Be physically qualified.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Army ROTC Scholarships are awarded based on merit and grades, not financial need. Scholarships consist of full-tuition; or room and board, $600 a semester for books and fees and a monthly stipend for the amount of time remaining to pursue your degree. Missouri S&T also provides a supplemental scholarship to contracted cadets attending S&T. The monthly stipend is awarded to all contracted cadets (scholarship or other) and is non-taxable.

Whether you are in high school, already in college or an enlisted soldier, the Army has a scholarship for you:

- Four-Year Scholarships
- Three-Year Scholarships
- Two-Year Scholarships
- Guaranteed Reserve Forces Duty Scholarships
- Simultaneous Membership Program
- Veterans and Soldiers
